Audit of the Bill of Rights for Children and Youth:
Incorporating the Bill of Rights into Planning Can Enhance Services

Office of the City Auditor
http://www.sanjoseca.gov/auditor
The Bill of Rights provides a set of guidelines to foster the needs and healthy development of the City’s children and youth.

Original adoption in 2010, revisions adopted by the City Council in 2021.

June 2021 Budget Message directed the Administration to develop Children and Youth Master Plan.

Background – Bill of Rights for Children and Youth

Finding 1: Current City Programs Address Many of the Elements of the Bill of Rights

- The City spent at least $36 million on direct programs directly for children and youth in FY 2020-21.
- The City provides more programs to address some elements of the Bill of Rights than others.
- In some instances, an outside partner or agency provides relevant services.

Finding 2: The Bill of Rights Framework Should be Used to Inform the Children and Youth Services Master Plan

- The City does not have a centralized inventory of children and youth programs.
- The Bill of Rights can help identify desired outcomes in the Children and Youth Master Plan.
- The City has used different tools to measure progress toward defined outcomes.

Finding 2: The Bill of Rights Framework Should be Used to Inform the Children and Youth Services Master Plan

Recommendations: In developing the Children and Youth Services Master Plan, the City Administration should:

→ Identify a process and resources to develop and maintain an inventory of children and youth programs. This can help document gaps in services and enhance equity and accessibility in services across San José.

→ Define and report on metrics to assess overall progress toward outcomes identified in the Bill of Rights.

These may require coordination with outside partners such as the local school districts and the Santa Clara County Office of Education.
Conclusion

We would like to thank the San José Public Library; the Department of Parks, Recreation and Neighborhood Services; the City Manager’s Office; and the Office of Economic Development and Cultural Affairs for their time, insight, and cooperation during the audit process.

B. BILL OF RIGHTS FOR CHILDREN AND YOUTH FOR SANTA CLARA - KIDS IN COMMON/YOUTH LIBERATION MOVEMENT (C. COLE)
Bill of Rights for Children and Youth for Santa Clara County

Presented by Cleo Cole, Youth Liberation Movement Fellow
Bills of Rights for Children and Youth

There have been dozens of Bills of Rights for Children and Youth made over the course of the past two decades. San Jose has adopted a Bill of Rights and Santa Clara County has adopted a Bill of Rights.

There is also a Bill of Rights for Foster Youth.

Because there are so many people interested in protecting the rights of children, especially ones in particularly vulnerable positions, it can be confusing to know what is being done, by who, for who.

Let’s break it down!!
Santa Clara County adopted a Bill of Rights made by Kids in Common 12 years ago, without the input of youth. This year, they decided it was time to revise the document.

This updated version is youth-led with diverse input from young people across the county to ensure that the final document is representative of our stated needs.
Who is this for?

This Bill of Rights is for EVERY young person 0-24 in Santa Clara County. This includes young people who have Bills of Rights already made for other aspects of their lives.
Who is working on it?

Youth Liberation Movement in collaboration with Kids in Common.

The Youth Liberation Movement is a new youth group consisting of opportunity youth aged 19-25, dedicated to improving the quality of life for young people in San Jose.

YLM has created two fellowship roles with Kids in Common for the purpose of having the Bill of Rights revisions lead by young people.

Cleo Cole began this project and Meyia Carrasco has joined recently.

This project is supported by our dedicated and passionate YLM members, the Executive Director of Kids in Common (Dana Burnett), and our allies in the youth-serving ecosystem.
What’s been done so far

We’ve spoken to about 65 young people from diverse backgrounds about the rights they believe they deserve.

From those initial responses we drafted a preliminary list of categories with examples of issues they gave under them.
What we’re doing now

We’re reaching out to young people, such as yourselves, to receive input on:

- What rights you believe youth should be entitled to.
- The organization of our draft of the Bill of Rights
- What issues are important to you and how our draft can change to accommodate or reinforce them
- Qualities you want from the services/products that should be provided under those rights
What we’re doing next

- Continuing to get youth input and discussing topics of vision of ideals, responsibility, and action.

- Drafting the Bill of Rights using all youth input at monthly drafting meetings.

- Circling back to those who participated to get any final edits on our final draft.

- Creating an action plan based on what youth have stated they want to see happen.

- Sending the finalized Bill of Rights to decision-makers in Santa Clara County for their signatures of approval.

- Creating recommendations for actions that will be presented to county decision makers and at the Children’s Agenda Network.
Why the Bill of Rights is important

This document will be written and approved by youth, and adopted by those with the power to make systemic change.

Young people and decision makers can use the Bill of Rights as common ground when connecting over initiatives to help one another with our common goal of upholding these rights.

This allows young people’s needs to be at the forefront of decisions made on behalf of youth and gives the opportunity for young activists to advocate for themselves more effectively.
Ways young people can be involved

- Youth group conversation = We will come to one of your youth group meetings and facilitate a conversation about the Bill of Rights. We request 30 minutes or more but are flexible with time. This will give you all a voice in the content of the Bill of Rights and will help us to draft the final product.

- Writing prompts = We will send you a prompt to respond to as a group or individually to write however much you want. It will help give us specific information we will use to draft the rights including organization and wording.

- One-on-One interview = If you found you had a lot to say about the Bill of Rights and how it should be upheld, we can have a one-on-one interview with you, lasting however long you'd like it to--expect 30 minutes. This means your individual input, experiences, and suggestions will be used to draft the Bill of Rights. This can be on zoom or in person.

- Take a Survey = We have two surveys they can take to provide their input. One takes under 5 minutes and the other takes about 10-15 minutes depending on the depth of their answers.
Ways young people can stay involved

- Join the Drafting Team = The drafting team will meet once a month via zoom at a time that works best for most members of the team. We will review responses from youth groups, interviews, and surveys to summarize, consolidate and organize responses into written rights.

- Join the Administration Team = Help with taking notes at meetings, setting up supplies, facilitating conversation, and more. You will be presented with opportunities to facilitate and can decide which, if any, you would like to be involved in and how.
Compensation

Participating Youth will be offered compensation unless:

- They are already being paid for their time
- They are at school while participating
- They are taking a survey (This is a raffle, instead of direct payment)

For in-person or zoom meetings, the rate is $25 an hour and 1-hour sessions are typical. These are given in the form of e-gift cards.
What we can do for one another

- Share connections
- Share engagement opportunities
- Share strategies
- Share knowledge
- Keep a dialogue

C. CHILDREN’S OUTDOOR BILL OF RIGHTS
(O. NUNEZ)
WHAT IS A CHILDREN’S OUTDOOR BILL OF RIGHTS

A list of nature-based activities or experiences that every child would benefit from

Celebrates our unique history, culture, diversity and natural resources

Reflects the needs, priorities and assets of our county and of our community

Making equitable nature access a County priority
WHY DID WE ADOPT A CHILDREN’S OUTDOOR BILL OF RIGHTS

- Green space inequities
- Being outdoors allows children to be active and more emotionally stable
- Children who are exposed to green spaces have greater cognitive functioning
- Children who interact with nature are more likely to address stress in a healthy manner
- Being outdoors reduces the chances of mental illness
WHAT ARE WE ASKING OF CITIES

- Cities adopt the Children’s Outdoor Bill of Rights
- Identify 2-3 actions over the next 18 months that can be taken to ensure access for all children to engage in the Bill of Rights tenets.
WHAT ARE WE ASKING OF CITIES

- Youth Commissions provide input on opportunities available in their city to engage youth.

- Support efforts to promote in your City.
Activities for Consideration

- Ten-Minute Walk to the Park
- Green Schoolyards
- Staff and Volunteer Positions
- Nature Features in Parks
- Transportation to parks
- Nature Focused Summer Camps
- Library-Park partnerships
- Seed Programs
- Green Career Pathways
- Family Nature Clubs
- Resource Hubs
- Equity Zone Mapping
